Halstead Testifies.

The Cincinnati Editor Tells
About the Ballot-Box

BEFORE THE SENATE COMMITTEE

How He Became in Possession of the Forged Document and Why He Didn't Publish All the Names—The Entire Day Taken Up by His Testimony.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Mr. Murat Halstead, editor of the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, was the principal witness before the ballot-box investigating committee yesterday. After Senator Sherman had testified that he had never signed any ballot-box contract, and pronounced his signature to the ballot-box paper a forgery, Bellamy Storer, who was an unsuccessful candidate in the last campaign, was called and gave unimportant testimony.

Mr. Halstead was then placed on the stand. He told the story of his connection with the forged paper in a dry, humorous manner, and brought out several laughs from his hearers.

After identifying the ballot-box paper, Mr. Halstead said he had first seen it on Sept. 14, on the cars at Springfield, O. He met Governor Foraker on the train, and the governor showed him the paper, which he had obtained from Wood. The witness asked Governor Foraker how he obtained the paper, and the latter replied that R. G. Wood had given it to him. They had some conversation previous to this about Wood and the latter's offer to get the paper. To Mr. Halstead's question as to where Wood had got the paper, Governor Foraker replied: "It came right out of John McLean's safe."

"How was this," asked the witness, and he was told that Wood was a party to the ballot-box transaction and had a right to the paper. The governor told the witness that the paper shocked him, and that it was much more than he wanted. While Governor Foraker went forward in the train, the witness studied the paper. He thought that there were reasons why a person should attach some credit to the paper. In the first place, its execution, surmising that it was not genuine, was beyond the capacity of a man like Wood; and secondly, the signatures were either genuine or the work of an artist. It was the work of a lawyer and an artist.

The witness said he told Governor Foraker that in his judgment it certainly connected Campbell with questionable transaction, and should not be concealed. He also said that he was exasperated at the idea that McKinley, Butterworth and others were connected with the matter; that he thought he would explode it under them, and that under whatever delusion others might have signed this paper. Mr. Campbell certainly knew all about it, for he had introduced the bill. Besides he was the only signer of the paper before the people for a public office, and his name, at least, should be published in connection with the transaction.

The only reason, Mr. Halstead said, why he thought at the time the paper should not be published in full was because the name of S. S. Cox appeared on it, and on the day Governor Foraker gave him the paper Mr. Cox's funeral had taken place. Again, it would not do to use the names of McKinley and Butterworth during the campaign. Governor Foraker had finally given witness to the paper, agreeing to let him have exclusive use of it, as the only person capable of handling it.

Mr. Halstead explained to the committee his theory of the forgery and Wood's motive in getting up the paper. The motive he believed was Wood's extreme anxiety to get hold of the smoke inspection. He was certain the paper was never intended to hurt anyone. It was utterly preposterous to think that Governor Foraker had any knowledge that there was any forgery.

He was certain that Wood had put Senator Sherman's name to the paper to keep Governor Foraker from using it during the campaign.

The witness explained how he came to make the paper public so soon in the campaign. He had intended to spring it about three weeks before the campaign closed, and afterward to settle with Messrs. Sherman, McKinley and Butterworth, if they could not explain their connection with the paper. A speech made by Governor Campbell at Pikes Opera house, in Cincinnati, in which he brought out the Topp letter was the direct cause of the early publication.

The Topp letter was a sore subject with the Republicans, and, besides, Mr. Campbell had indulged in some personalities concerning himself. The witness published an editorial card warning Mr. Campbell that he was concerned in a questionable transaction, and then, said Mr. Halstead, "I wasn't able to hold it back, and the paper got out earlier than I intended."

The witness said he was rather staggered at Senator Sherman's denial of any knowledge of the paper.

A recess was then taken.

Mr. Halstead was recalled after recess, and his examination occupied the balance of the evening. Continuing his testimony, he said that Judge Harman had called upon him one evening and requested him to show him the forged paper he had received from Governor Foraker, as he thought he had testimony that proved it a forgery. He told them that he could not produce it that evening, as it was locked up in the Safe Deposit company's building for safe keeping. Later on, he said, that a young man named Davis came to his office and told him in an excited manner that all the names on the paper were forged, and that he traced them all, with the exception of two, of which they had no copies, and these he filled in as best he could. This, he said, was done at the request of Wood. This convinced him that the paper was forged, and he immediately started out to get at the bottom, and on making inquiries was told that Mr. Hadden was probably the only man who could throw any light on the subject. Hadden was found, but he denied having any knowledge as to whether or not the paper was a forgery.

He then told the committee how he retracted statements made in former publications and pronounced the paper a forgery. He then read a letter from Senator Sherman, urging him to expose (through his paper) all those who were connected with the forgery. He also handed to the committee all the correspondence that had passed between Governor Foraker and himself in connection with the matter—a letter addressed to him by Gen. Grosvenor in connection with publishing the forged letter. It was passed to members of the committee and read, after which Gen. Grosvenor objected to it being put in the record. Gov. Foraker, who also read the letter, insisted upon it going in the record.

After more discussion it was decided to determine, in secret session, whether or not it should become a part of the record. When Governor Foraker gave him the paper, he stated that he told him that he had made all the use of it he could, and that he could have it. He also cautioned him to be careful of what use he made of it. He denied having any information, direct or indirect, implicating McKinley, Butterworth, Sherman or others, in the matter.

The committee then adjourned for the day.

THE PACIFIC EXPRESS ROBBER.

Traces Discovered of Him in Kansas City

Last Monday.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 7.—R. A. Walton, who, it is alleged, robbed the Pacific Express company at Dallas, Tex., of $35,000, was in this city on Monday. Upon his arrival at the Union depot on the M. K. and T. at 5:30 p. m., he jumped into a carriage, and was driven to a cigar store at the corner of Fifth and Delaware streets, owned by William Smith.

Walton was formerly in the employ of Wells, Fargo & Company, who run on the B. and M. from here to Denver. Smith was messenger with the same company, which runs from here to Denver on the Santa Fe. Walton told Smith that he was in trouble and asked him to go to the Union depot with him. Smith could not leave his business at the time. They finally parted to meet at the Pacific hotel at 8 o'clock that evening.

After dinner Smith's wife came to his store, and together they went calling, his previous engagement with Walton being entirely forgotten. Wednesday morning he went to the Pacific hotel. Walton was not there, nor had he been there. Yesterday Smith read of the robbery in the newspapers and immediately communicated with Superintendent Johnson, of the Pacific Express company.

Information obtained from the clerk of the Pacific hotel elicited the fact that Walton was at the hotel Monday night. He left under rather peculiar circumstances. He did not settle his bill at the desk, but gave the money to the cabman, who drove him from the hotel, supposedly to the station, and told him to hand it to the clerk. To the clerk he said he was going to St. Louis.

A Farce Turns Out to Be a Tragedy.

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 7.—Henry Waring, of Oberlin, wrote insulting letters to Kittie Cooper, then thought to set himself right with the lady by hiring Henry Blakeney to go to Miss Cooper and confess to the writing. A part of the scheme was that Waring was to get very angry, chase Blakeney from the house, and fire several shots in the air after him. But the shots missed the air and hit Blakeney, and now the tool is dying and the fraud exposed.

Scale of Points for Merino Sheep.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Feb. 7.—The Standard American Merino Sheep-breeders' association held its annual meeting here Wednesday. The following scale of points was adopted: Rams must weigh 110 pounds in carcass, clip 26 pounds of wool and scale 75 points to be standard. Ewes must shear 14 pounds of wool and weigh 70 pounds in carcass. They can be scaled or not, as the breeders desire.

Reception Rendered Rev. Dr. Talmage.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—About 6,000 people attended a reception in Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage's honor at the hall of the Seventeenth armory last night. Mayor Chapin, Gen. Sherman, Gen. Barnes and many prominent clergymen and other citizens were present. Speeches were made welcoming Dr. Talmage home and the reverend gentleman responded eloquently.

Would Rather Die.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Feb. 7.—The reason for the suicide of Miss Charlotte Dunlap, of Susquehanna, who took poison last night, is learned to be that she had given her affections to another than the man to whom she was engaged to be married. She left a note stating that she would rather die than marry her betrothed.

Faithless Marriages.

CANTON, O., Feb. 7.—A young man of this place recently obtained a blank marriage license and married Alice Curtis, of Alliance, whom he deserted after securing some money. This is the second case, and a pseudo preacher named Howard performed the bogus marriage.

Powdery Brings Suit.

SCRANTON, Pa., Feb. 7.—Mr. Powdery has instituted suit for criminal libel against Edward Callaghan, of Scotland. A warrant for Callaghan's arrest will be issued to-morrow. This case grows out of the matter written by Callaghan during the recent trouble with Powdery.

A City in Darkness.

CAREY, O., Feb. 7.—This city is cut off from its gas supply on account of some scoundrel firing the Glyck gas well in Hancock county.

Listening to Blair.

How the Senators Put in the Day at Washington.

THE GREAT NEED OF EDUCATION.

Senator Blair Addresses the Senate on His Educational Bill—The New Code of Rules Reported in the House—Other Dispatches from Washington.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The time of the senate yesterday was principally taken up by Mr. Blair, in advocating the educational bill. He did not conclude his remarks, which will be continued Monday. At the conclusion of the morning business the senate passed the bill extending for two years from its passage the time of beginning and finishing the bridge across the Mississippi river, at Burlington, Iowa; also, the bill appropriating $75,000 for a public building at Lewiston, Me; also the house bill granting the use of certain lands to the city of St. Augustine, Fla., for a public park.

Some dispute arose over Mr. Harris' motion to adjourn over from Thursday till Monday. Mr. Blair insisting that he desired to speak to-day. Unanimous consent was asked for a proposition that Mr. Blair be allowed to continue to-day, and that no other business be transacted, but Mr. Blair said that he would not be a party to an arrangement under which senators would be able to absent themselves from the chamber during the discussion of the educational bill. [Laughter.] Mr. Harris' motion was finally agreed to.

The senate again took up the Oklahoma bill, and its reading was concluded. Some formal amendments were agreed to.

Mr. Vest objected to the provision under which persons of foreign birth, who had declared their intentions to become citizens, would be permitted to vote at the first election.

After some discussion the section was amended, so as to require persons of foreign birth to have declared their intentions twelve months prior to election.

In answer to a question of Mr. Ingalls, Mr. Platt said the proposed new territory comprised 2,900 or 3,000 square miles. Almost in the immediate future, he said, other lands would be opened to settlement, and these would undoubtedly be added to the territory. The territory would eventually occupy an area of 30,000 or more square miles.

Mr. Hale said that the senate should not give territorial form of government to this 3,000 square miles, unless it was clearly stated in the bill that it was in contemplation hereafter to add largely to the lands covered by the bill.

At 2 o'clock the bill went over and the senate resumed consideration of the educational bill.

Continuing his remarks, Mr. Blair gave citations to prove that illiteracy was increasing in the United States. The money necessary for the execution of the bill should be appropriated, he said, whether there was a surplus in the treasury or a deficit; because, unless the children are educated there would be neither a surplus nor a nation. Even now, he said, in the north, the common school system was trembling in the balance; and he expressed the belief that before the younger senators had passed away the common school system of the United States (which was the republic) would have received its death wound—if, indeed, it had not already died.

Contrasting the expenditures for naval purposes and for school purposes, he said: "Educate the world and there will be no need of a navy."

After speaking for two hours, Mr. Blair yielded the floor, intending to conclude his speech on Monday.

The conference report on the senate joint resolution for the removal of obstructions to navigation in the Missouri river, was presented and agreed to. The house amendment reducing the amount from $250,000 to $75,000, and inserting a provision of $75,000 for improvements at the mouth of the Columbia river is adopted. The joint resolution now goes to the president.

The senate then proceeded to executive business, and at 4:30 adjourned till Monday.

House Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—In the house the journal was read and declared approved by a vote of 153 to nothing, the Democrats refraining from voting, and the speaker counting a sufficient number present, but not voting, to make up the constitutional quorum.

Mr. Cannon, from the committee on rules, reported the new code, which was ordered printed and recommitted.

The senate direct tax bill was laid before the house and referred to the committee on judiciary.

The call of states for the introduction of bills was then proceeded with and concluded.

The house then adjourned.

It is understood that the house will today consider and pass bills by unanimous consent, and then adjourn until Monday, when the new code of rules will be taken up and discussed.

Callers at the White House.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Most of the delegates to the three conventions now in session here called on President Harrison at the executive mansion yesterday afternoon. About seventy-five delegates from the colored National convention came first, and after them came 120 National Guard association delegates followed by about fifty delegates to the American Shipping league. The president received them in the east room.

Secretary Tracy Improving.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Secretary Tracy remained at the White House all day, most of the time sitting up in his room. He is gradually regaining his strength. He did not receive any visitors, though numbers called and left their card. Secretary Tracy has not yet seen his daughter, Mrs. Wilmerding, since the fatal night before the fire.

No Revolution in Corea.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The secretary of the Corean legations states that a cablegram from his country, received fourteen days ago, reports that the kingdom is peaceful. This news is more recent than the advices per steamer from Hong Kong, published yesterday, and refutes the story of a revolution there.

SECRET SESSION OF THE SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—In the secret session of the senate, the resolution of Senator Edmunds declaring that the rights of the United States in the harbor of Pago-Pago were not infringed by the Samoan treaty, was rejected—39 to 13.

HORRIFYING ACCIDENTS.

Two Men Meet Death in a New Jersey Wire Mill.

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 7.—Two horrifying accidents occurred yesterday at Roebling's wire mill. Charles Cheatle was pierced through the body, and for an instant suspended in the air on a red-hot rod about three inches in diameter. Cheatle, who is but 17 years of age, was what is known as a "hooker up," in the mill. As the iron leaves the furnace he seizes it in a pair of tongs and guides it to a hole which reduces the size.

As he attempted to seize a piece of iron yesterday it broke near the tongs, and before he had time to again take hold the red hot and now wriggling rod entered his right side, about the hip, and passing through the lung, came out beneath the left armpit. As the rod passed through Cheatle's body the end caught on a piece of machinery, and for an instant the boy was suspended in the air on the red hot rod. His weight broke the iron, and Cheatle fell in front of the furnace on his feet.

At the same moment another long rod of red-hot iron was seen coming through the rollers from the furnace. Cheatle still held the tongs when the iron left his body, and as he saw the second piece leaving the furnace, had sufficient presence of mind to ward it off, else this too would have pierced his body. Medical attendance was at once procured, but the case was hopeless.

Mart Molesky, a fine wire drawer, of the same mill, was pierced in the stomach about midnight Tuesday night. He is a new man, and did not understand how to arrange his wire, which broke, the end entering the pit of his stomach. The reel runs very fast, and when the fine wire entered Molesky he was hemmed in a corner, and before the reel could be stopped about ten feet of it had curled up in the man's stomach.

William Merston was killed in the same mill Tuesday by the breaking of an electric wire. The mill closed down for the day after Cheatle received his death wound and the firm ordered a corps of six of Trenton's leading physicians to relieve the men, but the doctors declare that the injured men cannot recover.

West Virginia's New Governor.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 7.—Fleming was inaugurated as governor in front of the capitol at noon yesterday. The oath was administered by Judge J. W. English, of the supreme court. Large numbers were present, among them many ladies. A speech about five minutes in length was made by the new governor from manuscript, in which he referred to the Democratic tariff policy and the late contest, complimenting Governor Wilson and pledging himself to discharge the duties of office faithfully and impartially. A grand inaugural ball took place in the state armory last night.

Rev. Ball Was Mistaken.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 7.—In the Ball-Pot libel suit, growing out of Rev. Ball's accusations of immorality against Grover Cleveland, Mr. Ball testified in regard to the statement that while Mr. Cleveland and two other gentlemen were returning from down the river, all being drunk, one of them fell out of a carriage and was killed. There were other statements of a serious nature reflecting upon Mr. Cleveland's character. Dr. Ball said he learned later that Mr. Cleveland was not with the party at all, and had printed a statement in the public press to that effect.

Fought on the River Bank.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., Feb. 7.—Mary Hooper, aged 17, and Rachel Ferguson, aged 18, had a desperate fight Wednesday at Utica, six miles from this city. The girls are recent converts to the Baptist church, and Wednesday were to be baptized in the river. The Hooper girl objected to Ferguson going in first. She deliberately struck her on the nose and blackened her right eye, and when separated by Minister Wesley made an attack on him. The whole baptizing broke up in a row, and great consternation in religious circles exists in the village.

Crew Saved.

BOSTON, Feb. 7.—The steamer Lake Ontario, at this port from Liverpool, brought Capt. Watson and crew, ten in number, of the Norwegian bark Rosedale, of Farsund, bound from Milk River, Jamaica, to Glasgow with a cargo of logwood and abandoned in a sinking condition Jan. 26, lat. 54.09 N., long. 15.24 W. The Rosedale had encountered a succession of gales accompanied by fearful seas, in which the vessel sprung a leak, and when abandoned had nine feet of water in her hold. She was also partially dismasted and her sails torn.

"Millions In It."

"There's millions in it," if a prominent Democratic Congressman knows what he is talking about. He asserts that Speaker Reed's real reason for delaying the adoption of rules until contesting Republican Congressmen are seated is that there is an organized plan to "loot the treasury."

Says this Democratic Congressman: "The looting legislation which is contemplated is something to astonish the stoutest imagination. Nothing like it has been known in the history of the country. Here is a partial list of measures already contemplated: Contractors who built gunboats for the government during the war are still begging for more money. One of the claims (McKay's) was allowed by Congress and the bill was vetoed by Cleveland. The Republicans now will allow all these, and no one knows the exact amount involved. It will reach millions.

"The building of United States penitentiaries will call for the expenditure of $1,000,000. The present cost of keeping federal prisoners is $300,000 per annum. It will be twice as much under the new system. The Direct Tax bill will cost about $20,000,000. The Blair Educational bill will involve an expenditure of $77,000,000. Many millions will be granted as subsidies to ships in the foreign carrying trade and for mail service. A general canal scheme will be entered upon by the federal government. The Hennepin canal alone will cost $21,000,000.

"It is intended to add hundreds of millions to the pension account by the repeal of the limitation in the arrears account. The term fixed in the original statute was 1880. There will be passed the biggest river and harbor bill at this session of Congress that the country has ever known. The Hale Navy bill and the Dolph Fortifications bill involve at least $50,000,000.

"A service pension bill will be passed which will call for an expenditure of $200,000,000. The 13 regular pension bills will aggregate not less than $100,000,000 more than those of last session. This is the kind of business which Mr. Reed proposes to facilitate by his arbitrary rulings."

The Republicans dare not be guilty of all this vicious legislation. The people would not submit to it. The passage of half the measures mentioned would drive the g. o. p. from power forever.

THE Legislators are down in Southern Kentucky to-day investigating the branch penitentiary at Eddyville. It remains to be seen whether the State will be benefited by their jaunt.

THE Council proceedings last evening were very harmonious and business like. Let us hope the members will hereafter all work together for the good of the city. That's what they were put there for.

A REDUCTION of ferry rates at Ripley from five to three cents each way will likely be made by the council at that place. Lower tolls, or free pikes, and a reduction of ferrage at this place would prove a big thing for Maysville.

THE Big Sandy News joins the BULLETIN in advocating Hon. Thos. H. Paynter's unanimous nomination for re-election to Congress. The News thinks "he will get there with ease" and says: "He is more popular than ever, because he is better known. We think no Democrat in the district is ungrateful or indiscreet enough to contest Mr. Paynter's right to the nomination at the hands of the next convention. His redemption of this district by a pronounced majority over its strongest Republican entitles him to another term at least."

SPEAKER REED ROASTED.

Some of His Own Party Papers Denounce Him for His Recent Despotic Rulings.

"The Boston Advertiser, a Republican journal, edited by the Speaker of the Massachusetts House of Representatives, says:

"It seems to us Speaker Reed has made a tactical mistake, to say the least, in deciding that the Democratic members refusing to vote were present. To all intents and purposes they were not present but were absent, and should be treated as the absent members of a parliamentary body usually are when a quorum is lacking, viz: they should be apprehended by the officer of the House and brought to the bar of the House under arrest, there to be excused or kept in dueas the members present should decide. The Republican party has been selected by the people of this country to control the legislation of the House of Representatives for two years. It is better that the will of the people should stand nullified by the tyranny of Democratic minority than that the Republicans should proceed without rules to consider members as present who refuse to vote, and in a quorum so obtained proceed further to unseat enough Democrats (even though rightly) to give the Republicans a working majority. If it be said that any other course than that already entered upon means delay, why, then we are of the opinion that the Republican party can afford to wait."

The Philadelphia Ledger, another independent Republican journal deplores the election of Reed to the high position he holds, and says:

"The result has been a course of rulings by the Speaker, backed by strict majority party votes, which were mere manifestations of party force of numbers, and in which the minority were deprived of all the usual protections to their rights. All of which is a practical commentary upon the fallacy of supposing that because a man may be an effective skirmisher in a party tilt on the floor of the House, or a brilliant debater, he must, therefore, be possessed of the rare qualities that go to make up the capable Speaker—keen-sighted, fair-spirited, self-poised, impartial, with command of all his senses, and, above all, with absolute command of himself. There never was a greater mistake, as those who elected Mr. Reed have already found out."

The Springfield Republican sees peril in the course of Reed and says:

"Aside from the question of the constitutionality of Mr. Reed's course, he is politically taking a perilous course, for he is not following the wish of a large majority, but taking steps to arbitrarily increase a party majority. Not only the lawyers, but the lovers of fair play will be on his trail, or breaking the precedents of a century in order to unseat a Democratic member from West Virginia. 'Think of the Speakership of this House going into commission!' exclaimed Mr. Reed in 1882, when it was proposed to give the appointment of the standing committees to a special committee selected by the House. If the Speaker carries his present position to its logical conclusion the whole House might as well go into the hands of a receiver."

Typographical Blunders.

There is an awful state of affairs in a little Michigan town where a type-setter substituted the word "widows" for "windows." The editor wrote: "The windows of the church need washing badly. They are too dirty for any use, and are a disgrace to our village."—Jessamine Journal.

An editor wrote a headline "A Horrible Blunder," to go over a railroad accident, but though it was the printer's fault that it got over the account of a wedding, the editor was the man thrashed all the same.—Galveston Opera Glass.

One Week's Pay for Influenza.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 7.—Supreme Justice Somerly, of the Order of the Iron Hall, has issued an order that is causing considerable ill feeling among the members of this and other states.

It is in effect that no one suffering from the influenza or grippe shall be allowed pay, under the sick benefit rule, for more than one week, the justice assuming that the disease ought to run its course in that time and the patient be entirely recovered. He says that the prevalence of the disease is made an excuse by many for making demands upon the sick fund, and hence his instructions.

Great Ore Deposits.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 7.—Eminent mining experts announce the Barker and Neilhart district at Great Falls, Mont., to contain the greatest ore deposits ever discovered in this country, and will surpass the records of all previous camps. Capital is following on the heels of these discoveries, and before this has passed rich developments are looked for. Labor is needed, and employment can at once be given to a large number of men.

Miners Out.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 7.—Five hundred miners are out at Johns and Adgers' slopes of the Blue Creek mines, twenty-four miles from Birmingham. The miners want props, ties and rails taken to rooms and headings; it is not a question of wages. The company has spared no expense in making these miners comfortable, and has put up good houses for the workmen and arranged for schools and churches.

Canada to Change Her Barley Culture.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 7.—The minister of agriculture has decided to purchase in England $25,000 worth of the very best two-rowed barley. The seed will be distributed at cost price to barley growers in Canada in order to promote the production of that variety, which is the kind desired in Great Britain. Hitherto six-rowed barley for the United States market has been grown almost exclusively in Canada, but the demand is falling off, owing to the increased substitution of corn, glucose and other materials for barley in United States breweries.

Railroad Collision.

STEUBENVILLE, O., Feb. 7.—Yesterday evening the second section of passenger No. 6 eastbound, and No. 3, a westbound passenger train on the Pan-Handle railway, collided near Bowerstown, O., and Engineer Martin and the fireman on the eastbound train were badly scalded and bruised. Martin's injuries will probably cause his death. The engineer on No. 3 had disobeyed his orders in not side-tracking his train at Bowerstown to allow No. 6 to pass.

Dissatisfied Miners.

SCOTTDALE, Pa., Feb. 7.—The conference operators' and miners' representatives have agreed on an advanced rate of wages, but have disagreed on the manner in which the loaded wagons should be gauged, and it is likely to cause a serious breach, and a strike may yet occur. The operators express themselves as being discouraged over the advance in wages and the shortening of the hours of labor.

A High River.

TACOMA, Wash., Feb. 7.—The Willamette river is higher here than for twenty years past. Many bridges are threatened, and there has been much damage done in the valley. The revenue cutter Richard Rush, with the northern mail from San Francisco, was unable to cross the Columbia river bar. She came back to Tacoma, and has returned to San Francisco.

Female Weaver Strike.

NASHUA, N. H., Feb. 7.—Yesterday afternoon one hundred female operatives in the weave-room of mill No. 1 struck for the annulment of a cut in wages made this week. Subsequently the weavers in mill No. 2 also struck, and the strike is now spreading to mills 3 and 4.

Labor Troubles Growing Worse.

WOXBURN, Mass., Feb. 7.—The labor trouble is getting worse. E. L. Shaw & Company paid off yesterday and shut down indefinitely. The misunderstanding as to what shall constitute a day's work is likely to undo the good results of the late settlement of the wage question.

Railroad Consolidation.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Feb. 7.—Railroad men and business circles are much interested in the reported consolidation of the Cleveland, Sandusky and Columbus and the Ohio, Indiana and Western railroads, thereby giving through passenger traffic from Columbus to Indianapolis.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 7.—A Buchtel, O., special says that little Katie Reed, living at Happy Hollow, near that place, was fatally burned by her clothing catching fire in the grate. A year ago her father was shot and killed here.

A Murderer Resisted.

He'll Get a Bump.

A rich and eccentric Spaniard is going to fit out a ship and see if he can't discover a new continent in the Pacific ocean. Some night, when he is fast asleep, his craft will discover something with an awful bump, and he'll tumble out of bed to find that he has arrived at the Sandwich Islands.—Detroit Free Press.

SENATOR JEFFERSON DAVIS IN 1858.

Though, on his first long speech in the house of representatives, so good a judge as John Quincy Adams had pronounced him a man of infinite promise, his term in the house had been too brief to justify the prediction; it was left for the senator to fulfill the hope of the representative. He was chosen chairman of the committee on military affairs, in compliment to his military fame; but his most conspicuous function was the defense of the doctrine of states' rights and southern institutions. Those who remember the stormy sessions of 1849-'50 and 1850-'51 can not have forgotten the force and the heat with which Senator Davis defended the doctrine peculiar to his section of the country.—Harper's Weekly.

The Cardiff Giant.

The Cardiff giant was a noted piece of trickery in the shape of a colossal statue of gypsum, disinterred at a little place called Cardiff, near Lafayette, N. Y., in October, 1869, and successfully palmed off upon some of the most distinguished antiquaries and paleontologists of America as being either a work of ancient sculpture or, more probably, a fossilized man. It was carried about the country, and publicly exhibited to great crowds in all the principal cities. At last the fact came out that it had been cut from a quarry in Iowa not long before, wrought into shape in Chicago and buried in Cardiff, where it was soon after alleged to have been accidentally discovered.
